Teacher college recommendation letters should be unique and reflect on your experiences within the classroom interacting with peers and faculty. Admissions representatives want to read anecdotes and specific examples of your personal strengths and experiences. By answering the questions and prompts below, you will remind your teacher about your experiences and activities in which you were involved during the class. Please use additional paper if necessary.

1. What was your favorite topic covered in the class? Why did you like it?

2. Please remind me about a specific conversation or interaction we shared that provides insight into how your mind works, your willingness to participate in class, or your enthusiasm in helping others.

3. What was a memorable assignment you completed in class? Why was it meaningful to you?

4. Briefly list your interests or hobbies outside the classroom. Be sure to include any that relate to my class/subject matter. (Attach an activity sheet or resume if needed).

5. How would you describe yourself as a student in my class?

6. Please tell me anything else that you think would be important for me to mention in my letter.
